Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer image file is objectionable because it promotes and supports the exploitation of young persons for sexual purposes.

The file contains an image of a naked girl in her early to mid-teens, posed for the camera. The pose emphasises her youthful face, bare breasts and patch of pubic hair. A sexual reading of the image is unavoidable. Its purpose is to sexually titillate or arouse viewers with a sexual interest in young people. By presenting a sexualised image of a young girl, the publication encourages this sexual interest and legitimises the idea that it is acceptable for adults to become sexually aroused by young teenagers.

The classification of this publication interferes with the freedom of expression as set out in the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990, but this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's intention that publications falling under s3(2) of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993 are deemed to be objectionable. The classification is also a reasonable limitation on the freedom of expression that reflects the concern of a free and democratic society to limit the availability of publications that promote and support the exploitation of young persons for sexual purposes.
